

Jessica Coetzee

Director, Executive Coaching

Jessica Coetzee is a Director with BPI group's Executive Coaching practice. Based in London, Jessica supports BPI group's European-based clients through the growth and expansion of executive coaching services and programs. She ensures the delivery of best-in-class solutions for individuals and teams through a variety of leadership development programs.

Jessica is a key point of contact with client sponsors on individual executive coaching engagements as well as the execution of large-scale projects for BPI group's global clients. With a proven ability to understand the development needs of an organization, she is consistently able to provide customized solutions to client leadership.

Jessica plays a key role in facilitating BPI group's proven executive coaching approach as well as training the global coaching cadre to ensure alignment and delivery of global best practices.

Jessica has worked in both the United Kingdom and the United States across a variety of client organizations, leveraging experience across numerous vertical industries. Prior to joining BPI group, Jessica was a Consultant for Tests Direct, a start-up online psychometric test house, where she managed validation studies, oversaw sales processes, and ensured clients utilized psychometrics for both selection and development. She also worked for a human resources consultancy, where she held responsibility for coordinating global selection and development assessments.

Jessica holds a bachelor's degree in economics and social sciences from the University of Manchester.

"The key to an organization's success lies in the growth and development of its people."
